

And this is what we came up with.

u/skillity

a community marketplace for skills, knowledge and experience

u/skillity 's intuitive interface will

- save u/ time and effort when searching for the skill u/ strive to embrace
- give the opportunity to easily find people interested in your skills, knowledge or experience through u/skillity

- u/ will be given the means to easily share the things you're passionate about
- u/ will be able to connect to a diverse community
- u/ will be able to earn money, just by being, who u/ are

Become a Unique and join the movement

We believe that everyone is entitled to learning. We believe that education comes from all of us, if only we would share what we know with others, and embrace what we don't know from those willing to share.

We want to conquer the world together with a strong community ready to make wonders.

Our goal is to create a learning revolution by exchanging skills with people.

We believe that by doing so, we can push everybody's potential, give chances to those that might not have had them, and make a bigger impact on our society and educational environment.